

The Project of Academic Association of Humanities and Social Sciences Transformations to Evaluation Institution

In order to develop specialization and diversification of Higher Education Evaluation in Taiwan, Higher Education Evaluation and Accreditation Council of Taiwan (HEEACT) plans to explore the possibility of Academic Association of Humanities and Social Sciences Transformations to Evaluation Institution. The methods of this project include document analysis, questionnaire and advisory forum. The findings of this project as follows: 1. The academic association generally has problems of shortage of funds, manpower and office space. 2. The academic association members must reach a consensus of evaluation affairs. 3. The academic association has the representative problem of discipline. 4. There are four disciplines which have the possibility to transformation. 5. The recommendation 1 is to maintain the existing evaluation framework of HEEACT, but increased the role of the academic association. 6. The recommendation 2 is added the discipline committee within HEEACT. 7. The recommendation 3 is the academic association complete transforms into evaluation institution