The Project of Developing Universities Educational Evaluators Training Course

Evaluator s' professional performance has always been regarded as the most important factor affecting the quality of evaluation. In recent years, quality assurance institutions all around the world are committed to promoting educational evaluators' development and ensuring their professional performance. The goal of this study is developing "Universities Educational Evaluators Training Course" which includes three steps: Firstly, understanding educational evaluators' opinions for this training course; secondly, constructing the training curriculum framework; lastly, designing the teaching materials and inspection mechanism. To that end, this study conducted expert consulting, questionnaire, focus group and put into practice to complete the courses development, such as "the ethics and concepts of higher education evalution","the writing of university self-evalution report"and so on, for improving universities evaluation evaluators' professional development.
